Maternity Leave Policy

We have developed a Maternity Leave Policy which exceeds some statutory requirements for female employees wishing to combine their careers with having a family. Coupled with our Flexible Working Policy, this encourages employees to return to work after maternity leave to continue and develop their career with us. Maternity leave and pay will be in line with prevailing legislation.

Details

Maternity Leave: Employees are entitled to take Maternity Leave irrespective of length of service at Inmarsat. This includes two weeks of compulsory maternity leave directly after the birth.

Notification and confirmation requirements: We encourage people to let their manager know they are pregnant as soon as they feel ready to, and discuss maternity leave with them.

Antenatal care: Time off to attend antenatal appointments will be paid in full.

Starting maternity leave: Maternity leave generally starts before the baby is born. How long before the birth will vary from country to country.

During maternity leave: How employees keep in touch while they are on maternity leave is up to them. Your manager will not contact you unless you have agreed that they can, or if circumstances dictate that they should. In many jurisdictions, paid ‘keeping in touch’ days are encouraged.

Maternity pay: The amount of statutory maternity pay and the number of weeks it is is available will vary in different territories. We will top it up to full pay for part of this time.
